Written by Chronicle.lu

On Thursday evening, the anniversary of Nettoservice, Netto-Recycling and Meyers Sàrl took place and was attended by Nicolas Schmit, Luxembourg's Minister of Labour, Employment and Social Solidarity; the evening was an opportunity to revisit the development of the Meyers family group that started in 1964.

Edward Meyers, father of the current managers Mireille, Roland and Fernand, began his career in entrepreneurship with the creation of Ed. Meyers & Cie GmbH, a company active in the distribution of machines, products and accessories for cleaning, maintenance and hygiene. Fernand, the current managing director, stresses great importance to customer service and after-sales service. Ten years later, Netto-service was born. Over the years, the company has diversified its expertise in customer demand. In 1994, netto-recycling, specialising in archiving and recycling data, is created.

With 1.300 employees, the Group is part of the top 20 employers in the country. "Our staff is our greatest resource so we always prefer training and internal promotion are the keys to our success. It follows from our strong management tenure policy and low turnover"; Mireille Meyers, administrator-delegate, explained. And with 90% of the workforce female, the company has many career breaks and working time arrangements. "Equal opportunity is essential for us. Thus, 50% of inspectors are women. All these elements contribute to the well-being of our employees which feeds the quality of our services".

"2 years ago, we decided to formalize our commitment to the quality level by obtaining ISO 9001 certification and the level of the environment with ISO 14001"; confided Roland Meyers, Managing Director. Thus, the Group ensures continuous use of cleaning, archiving and destruction techniques which are modern, most effective and environmentally friendly. "These standards have allowed us to review our internal processes to implement corrective and preventive actions" continued Mr. Meyers.
